

Song of the Angels

Melody: Traditional, The Sound of Mull. Arrangement: Jane Harris

Words Jane Harris, adapted from Song of the Angels by Howard Thurman

When the song of the angels is silent and still

When the star in the sky departs

And the shepherds their flocks to the fold have returned

Then the real work of Christ /mas starts

With the hungry to feed and the broken to heal

The lost and forgotten to find

And the fighting to still and the nations rebuild

And to reconcile all mankind

When the song of the angels has faded away

And long gone are princes and kings

When the gifts are set down and the carols all sung

Then the real work of Christmas / begins

The imprisoned to free, the hostage release

And to reconcile people apart

To bring peace among folk and peace to the world

To make music / within the heart
